IBP Network
A Global Platform for Local Impact in Family Planning and Sexual and Reproductive Health
What is the IBP Network?

- Founded in 2000 by WHO, UNFPA, USAID and 9 international organizations to support the exchange of best practices in FP/RH

- Originally was called “Implementing Best Practices” Initiative; In 2011 IBP Initiative; In 2020 IBP Network

- Mobilizes international NGOs, local civil society, researchers and advocates to exchange evidence inform implementation, and facilitate collaboration

- Leverages WHO technical expertise, global presence and neutral platform

- Sustainable network for FP/SRH professionals beyond the life of any one project
Mission
To support dissemination and use of evidence-based guidelines and programmatic interventions in SRH through IBP’s convening power, diverse membership and neutral platform for knowledge-sharing and collaboration

Vision
Global SRH guidelines and effective practices are disseminated and implemented to improve reproductive health outcomes around the world.
IBP Strategic Goals

1. Increase access to global guidelines, information and resources related to effective practices among country-level implementers through multiple knowledge sharing channels

2. Support implementation and documentation of effective practices, guidelines and tools in order to advance learning around implementation science

3. Facilitate collaboration among internal and external partners through the network’s convening power and coordination efforts

DEFINING SUSTAINABILITY: THREE DIMENSIONS

1. Client level
   Sustain impact
   Strengthen the intervention’s effectiveness, in support of adoption & continuation

2. Country level
   Sustain implementation
   Integrate into gov’t health systems in pursuit of scale and sustainability

3. Global level
   Sustain value
   Advance ASRH practice by generating learning and supporting adoption, & replication

What Women Want Dashboard

We asked more than a million women and adolescent girls around the world: What is your top request for quality reproductive and maternal healthcare services?

In March 2021, you will be able to explore their responses using White Ribbon Alliance’s interactive dashboard.

- View survey responses from women and girls, in their own words, from more than 100 countries.
- Compare and contrast between countries, response topics, and age groups.
- Browse responses by code, such as Family Planning & Contraceptive Information, Services, or filter for your own specific keywords and search terms.
- Listen to women and act! Use survey responses to drive your programmatic and advocacy priorities.
mHealth solutions co-designed and piloted to improve family planning in Uganda

Ask RHU – AI chatbot
- 12 young people, SRHR and tech experts co-designed chatbot
- Turns a mobile phone into a trusted SRHR adviser through Facebook Messenger
- Uses Artificial Intelligence (AI) to answer questions on family planning and GPS location of nearest clinic
- Completed 5 rounds of “live testing” for continuous improvement
- Aims to complement services and information.

Solar Tablets for mobile outreach
- Proof of concept developed and tested 4 prototypes by mobile outreach providers
- Tablets screen digital IEC materials & real time data collection and uses renewable solar energy to recharge tablets
- User-driven pilot delivered SRHR information to 2,000 people
- Confirmed acceptability of tablets to complement mobile outreach services.

NEW REPORT

Access to emergency contraception through community pharmacies in Europe: Findings from a participatory survey

Published in January 2021, includes findings from Andorra, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Malta, Spain and Sweden. We conclude that access to the highest standard of care in post-coital contraception remains uneven within and among countries in Europe, and make recommendations to reverse the situation.
